Discrimination against someone's age or gender is an insult to every New Yorker and these allegations against @GetSpectrum are shameful.

It takes true courage to stand up and speak out the way these women have. We stand with them.

Wigdor LLP · June 20, 2019

Wigdor LLP has filed an age and gender discrimination lawsuit on behalf of five award-winning female journalists against Charter Communications, which operates the news channel known as Spectrum News NY1. The lawsuit alleges that NY1 systemically marginalizes older female anchors by cutting their air-time in favor of younger, less experienced women and men.

The Plaintiffs in the case are NY1 anchors/reporters Roma Torre (61), Kristen Shaughnessy (50), Jeanine Ramirez (49), Vivian Lee (44) and Amanda Farinacci (41).
